

Old Lane Allotment Association Newsletter No.7 Aug. 17

Bad News

Two adults came on the site in the early hours of August 1st causing structural damage on some plotsthey were caught on camera unfortunately we could not see their faces. Don't forget we need folk to ring West Yorkshire police of any instances on site and obtain a crime number by individual plot holders.

Taking the Piss

Urine is a rich source of nitrogen (N), plus it contains phosphorus (P) and potassium (K). The NPK ratio of human urine varies with diet and each person has a unique profile within that but roughly speaking, an average westerner will produce urine with the proportions at 11:2:4.

This means:

- your pee is a high quality fertiliser, rich in nitrogen, which can be applied directly to your soil
- it's local, readily available and plentiful – one person's urine is enough to benefit a tenth of an acre plot for one whole season
- it's fast acting because it's in a ready-mixed form perfect for your plants to have a hearty drink, absorb and use straight away
- it's safe and sterile – most urine is urine is pathogen free unless you have a serious infection.
- and it's FREE

Loosing the Plot

We asked in last month's newsletter for people to make sure their plot's were numbered

It looks like this still hasn't happened walking round the site there are still plots not numbered.

If people don't know there plot number they can ask Mark Burton.
